

Abstract :

This study deals with the preislamic poet's vision to his own being in terms of time and place. As it deals with his view to Preislamic life in its ideal images. Starting with the ethical ideal to the escape ideal through into the belonging and belongingless ideal. Ending with the typical text when it exceeds its time, place and the teller limits.